Richness of Diversity

Learn who you are through learning about the countryside. By exploring and understanding the genius loci and the uniqueness of places, we can learn a lot about ourselves. The aim of project is to develop partnerships between Gymnázium Zlín-Lesní čtvr , Zlín (CZ) and College Emilien Adam de Villiers, Saint-Pierre (FR) via working on environmental issues, sustainable development, specifics and diversity of natural species in participating countries and cities. The main objective of our project is to show to young people the opportunity how to affect the environment directly and properly. As today's Europe has many different faces it could be difficult for a young European to find his or her way in it and well comprehend its diversity and at the same time its desire for unity. However this should not be seen as an obstacle but as a possibility to enrich oneself. So thanks to the project activities young people will get to experience personally the usage of foreign languages in real situations. They will see the options of how to protect the environment, the richness of cultural heritage. They will apply their IT abilities, enjoy the taste of multiculturalism and all that may help their personal and social development with consecutive influence on their life at school, in their family, town, region, country or even Europe. And what we consider the most important is that they will figure out their own potential and their own active role in the society.

From a long-term perspective, it is an undeniable benefit of the project to deepen the cooperation of two European educational institutions, cities and their citizens, to learn about practical ecology and active participation in favour of harmonious multi-colored coexistence in Europe.
